Digital Mental Health

Digital mental health resources are online programs, tools, apps, phone lines and video services that deliver mental health support. They can be used alone or with support from your child's GP or mental health professional.

These resources are based on research evidence, free or low cost, and easy to access at a time that suits you, with just a phone or an internet connection. Some services even allow you to remain anonymous.

If you are unsure what type of support your child needs or find that they need a bit more help, they might need a professional assessment to work out why they are feeling this way. Your child's GP, mental health professional or Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander worker is a great place to start.
